THE FERRY HOUSE SPARROW.

WRITTEN FOR THE NEW YORK CLIPPER, BY MONROE H. ROSENFELD,

I twitter about these rafters high, And watch the motley crowd go by; The rich, the poor, the young, the old, The weak, the strong, the meek, the bold; While this is the song I daily sing. Over their heads on restless wing:
"My tiny brood is sheltered here, God will provide, I do not fear: So Summer or Winter cheer, heart, cheer ! I am the ferry house sparrow !"

See yonder group, with laughter light-Oh! merrily goes the hour so bright And, following, with footstep slow, The mourner passes down below The burden of thought, the brow of youth, The mask of deceit, the glance of truth— I watch them all, as on they glide, Like currents of the stream outside: Yet, well contented, here I bide. I am the ferry house sparrow

My wee ones peep from out their nest, To mark the people on their quest; They pass-are gone, and some no more Will hurry through the sliding door But others swell the motley crowd, Buoyant with joy, or sorrow bowed. While here I chirp my cheery song, Amid the changeless, seething throng, With thankful spirit, hopeful, strong, I am the ferry house sparrow!

PLOTTING AGAINST CUPID.

WRITTEN FOR THE NEW YORK CLIPPER, BY CHARLES H. DAY.

Circus and Menagerie Manager Jacob Circle was particularly pleased when he secured the services of Miss Ada Starin as his principal equestrienne for the coming season. The negotiations had been pending for many months, for the young lady's in structor and guardian knew how to drive a good bargain. In his younger days Uncle Timmons had himself been a performer of note, and until the advent of the giant shows, controlled by great capitalists, had managed successfully on his own ac

Uncle Sam Timmons had decided wisely when he withdrew from management, and, as he remarked: "The business has grown several sizes too large for me. I am not up to this new fangled railroading," so that he put "the trick" into Winter quarters, and sold it out piece meal to the best possible advantage.

At the time of his withdrawal from management At the time of his windrawai room management he had a girl apprentice well up in the rudiments of riding, and who had already appeared in public. Ex-Manager Timmons' plans for the future were well arranged; he had on hand a large variety of circus property, and, being in no need of immediate cash, he decided to dispose of it at private sale and to the best possible advantage. He had been in the harness Summer in and Summer out for many years, and could thoroughly enjoy a vacation Further, Ada Starin, his fair apprentice, was as yel not the artist that he hoped and expected to see her

During the Summer Uncle Sam dickered off a good amount of circus stuff, and gave the polish and finishing touches to Miss Ada's equestrian act. Uncle Sam had no children of his own except those who had grown up and gone away from home years before, but no father could have thought more of a child can did the old manager and instructor of his apt and beautiful pupil. Mrs. Timmons, too, was very fond of young Ada, and, as the old lady had herself in her younger days been one of the most famous equestriennes, she was deeply interested in her adopted daughter's acquirement of a difficult and exacting art. "I do think," said Mama Timmons, one Summer's morning, "that you can ride almost as good as I did at your age."

The conversation took place in the ring barn. while Ada was resting from practice.

"Indeed she is," coincided Mother Timmons.
"Well," remarked the rider, toying with her whip,

"If you two are not careful, I will be getting what you dread so much—the big head." "You may," remarked Uncle Sam, "when I tell that I have closed with old Jake Circle to go out with you with his big show next season. He accepted my last proposition, and I have just wired him that it is a go." Ada Starin seemed well pleased at the proposition

nd gave Uncle Sam a good hug on the strength

"Now you know what that means." said the old man, "lots of work until next Spring-practice, practice, until you are able to hold the best lady rider on the continent.' Ada's eyes sparkled, and the old lady spoke up:

'Just as I was in my time, Samuel.' "There she goes again," remarked Uncle Sam-talk about a case of big head; there's a case of unnatural expansion for you. Guess you must have ome to have believed all the press agents wrote

Mr. Samuel Timmons " exclaimed the wife, "i surprises me to hear you talk-yes, it does. Didn't I ride all over the world with you and before I knew you, and isn't the house loaded down with presents that I got from kings and queens and princesses and other big folks?"

"True, mother," interrupted the husband, smiling at her earnestness. "Don't get excited; I was only teasing you. You were the boss in your day."

Mrs. Timmons accepted the amendment with the ondescension of a curtesy, and a: "Thank you, Mr. Timmons. You needn't siur at the press agents, either. I guess if it wasn't for them you would be driving a circus wagon, or cleaning out a cage to-

'And by the same token you would be taking in washing.

Jacob Circle, the millionaire showman, was very nuch pleased with Ada Starin, the rider; so was Jacob Circle Jr., the old man's hopeful heir, and in ne of Uncle Sam Timmons' earliest letters home he wrote:

"Just as you said last Summer would be the case oung Jake Circle is mightily struck with our Ada, and would pay her a good deal of attention if I did not stand in the way. Of course Ada-the child-is dattered, and why wouldn't she be? The old man, Circle, don't seem to have discovered the fact as yet; but, as he is a sharp one, he will not long be in ignorance. I know that he will raise the dence ought to know her. That's Bertha Joy, who sings in the concert and rides on one of the tableaux cars in the procession."

'Um," was all the reply the manager made to the porter, and then he called to his son, who was just taking his borse and buggy from the hands of the hostler, "Say there, Jake, take that Miss Joy in with you; it's a big stretch up town." Then he turned to his son's hostler, and exclaimed: "You there, hostler, if you see my man, you tell him to get a move on him and send my team 'round. I'm

'bont tired of standing here."
Young Circle assisted Miss Bertha Joy into his buggy in gallant style, and as he drove away his mil when he finds it out, but I hope that I can so man- lionaire father on the car platform said to himself

For a week young Circle was very attentive to little Miss Joy, but his father was only pleased that e was having his way in keeping his son from Ada Starin, the charming and accomplished equestri-

Jacob Circle was a great man in having his own

It got to be a regular thing after that for the junior Circle to wait on Bertha Joy to and from the cars to the show grounds, and often, in a joking way, when the manager was in a good humor, he would call Miss Joy "daughter," and she, full of mischlef and fun, would in turn address him as

It got to be long after the Fourth of July, and, as usiness had been good all the season, Jacob Circle had settled into a chronic state of good humor, and there was no one in the company that he delighted to tease more than he did Bertha Joy, the pretty girl who sang in the concert.

One afternoon he had taken his big chair and placed it on the shady side of the ticket wagon, and was composedly viewing the surroundings, when he felt a light touch on his shoulder. He turned, and on seeing Miss Joy, said:

"Well, daughter?"
"I want to speak to my papa a minute, if he isn't too busy to listen to his daughter."

As he looked at the young girl he saw that her lips trembled, and she looked pallid.

"Any trouble?" he asked, kindly.
"Well," she stammered. "I couldn't call it trouble, we are too happy for that."

"Who's me?" shouted the old man, a great suspicion coming over him.

The answer came with a shower of tears:

"Your son and I are we, we are married."

For the first time in his life Jacob Circle could not flud words to express himself. He gasped, and his face became a blood red, he looked as if an explosion was coming, and to prevent it his daughter in law threw her arms around his neck and kissed him as she wept:

"You'll forgive us, won't you, papa?"
Young Circle came around from the other side of the ticket wagon, and added his:

"You'll forgive us, won't you, papa?" to his wife's

The old man untwined the plump arms from about his neck, gently, very gently, and then he

Yes, I'll forgive you, for it was all my fault. 1 won't say that I'll make the best of a bad bargain, for I think it is a very good one."

For all his gruffness and his roughness, the veteran circus manager had a tender spot in his heart, and there were tears in his eyes when the happy pair walked away. That night Jacob Circle called Uncle Sam Tim-mons aside, and told him the news, remarking:

"Well, Uncle Sam, I am indebted to you for a daughter in law, and you have not lost your appren-tice either. You said, you will recollect, that my boy

"Oh, I saw what it was coming to," interrupted

'And never told me?" said Jacob Circle. "I was too well suited with the way things were going."

"Um," said the manager, "perhaps it is just as well that you didn't. Bertha and my Jake are mar-ried now," and then he added with a laugh, "and It's all your fault, Uncle Sam."

"No," returned Ex-Manager Timmons, "It all came from your PLOTTING AGAINST CUPID."

KATIE LAWRENCE.

This lively English singer has been on the music hall stage since 1883, and has distinguished herself in England, Australia and America. She menced as a child actress, playing in "Rip Van Winkle" at the Philharmonic Theatre, Islington Eng. After that she entered the academy of Mme Katti Lanner, and became proficient in the terpsi chorean art, taking part at Her Majesty's Theatre, London, in the opera of "Carmen." It was soon discovered, though, that she had an excellent roice, and that, with her natural aptitude for edy, convinced her that her forte was the ren dering of dramatic songs, instead of dancing. How successful she has been every frequenter of the varieties knows, and the following songs only want their titles mentioned to set one off humming them at once: "Don't You Believe It," "Oh, Ta-ra-ra " while the pearly coster song, with the "Chiv-aleer, D'ye 'Ear'' finale, fairly "knocks 'em."

STRANGE EXCUSES.

What is much needed for persons "in trouble," nd especially for those caught in flagrante delicto. is a good excuse, an explanation on the spur of the moment for their each having, for example, three gold watches about them. An instance of this kind occurred lately in London.

A. M., and requested to explain the fact of his carrying four umbrellas. It had been a fine day, so that even one seemed unnecessary. The best account he could give of himself was that his mistress had been out at a party, and he was carrying her

The inefficiency of an excuse of this sort is really entable. In no society do ladies take four um orellas to an evening party. It would have been better for the poor wretch to have announced him "Japanese nobleman of the first class, who, in deference to Western customs, was wear-ing four umbrellas instead of four swords." This would, at least, have staggered the policeman as being something out of his beat.

In another case three individuals are found, rmed to the teeth, under the pantry table of a gentleman's house, who have no better explanation to give of their position than "they were getting out of the rain." These excuses are pitiful and aimost pathetic.

"Now don't be silly," said the wife; and, to age things that there will be no unpleasantness change the conversation, she continued, "there's the dresses, that means a good deal of work and a good deal of planning; for I can tell you, to start with, that Ada's going into the ring the best cos tumed woman in the show, if it breaks a bank t

"Of course," added Uncle Sam. Then he turned to the groom, and instructed him to take away th horse, remarking to his ward: "We'll hasten slowly o use tiring out in practice."

With that the girl threw a long cloak about her and ran out of the ring barn to the house near by After she was out of hearing Mrs. Timmons said:

"There's only one thing I don't like about this en gagement with Circle, the show is the biggest and the best, and the salary is at the top notch, but, on see, I can't be along to keep a mother's eye or The contract calls for you, for no one ca keep up the horse for her as you can, but -

"I know what you are coming at, just as well as if you had said it," put in Uncle Sam; "you going to say that some one, some young fellow, is going to steal her."

"And there will in time, but not this season. Ada too young yet, and I want to see her make a nice little fortune before she gets a nice little fellow for

"There's that young Jake Circle, the manager's son," said Mrs. Timmons, "he's more than likely to take a fancy to Ada, and that would be sure to raise and we will be able to run out the season. O course, I have got sense enough to know that Circle has got very big ideas for his son, and they don' nclude star riders in the ring either, if he did drive stage in his youger days himself.

Uncle Sam had but just mailed this letter when he was sent for by the manager, and he was not at all surprised when he learned the cause of the interview. Manager Circle was not a bit excited, and that he had to say was very reasonable:

T've been noticing that my boy has been trotting after your apprentice a bit-nice girl, and I haven' a thing against her; but he's not old enough to marry yet, and I do not want him to marry in the See! Now, I want your girl to play out the engagement to the end, and to have he so you and I must keep our eyes open, and keep them apart as far as we can without setting up any open opposition. I know what that is; if I was to oppose him, that boy of mine would have her any

"Human nature." interjected Uncle Sam, and then, to pacify the fears of the manager, he said: "I reckon, Mr. Circle, that it is only a boyish fancy anyway. He'll probably drop her for the next

That ended the interview; but after Ada's guard ian had walked away the circus manager repeated: "He'll probably drop her for the next pretty face

The next morning when Manager Circle stood on the platform of his private car attached to the circus train, he for the first time particularly noticed a very pretty young woman who had just emerged from one of his cars on a side track along side. He could not place the miss, so he turned to the car porter and asked:

"Why, Mister Circle," replied the darkey, "you | you, sir."

There's another pretty face for you, my lad I'll just see if that won't make you forget that rid-ing girl, Ada." The old man was so well satisfied with himself that he forgot to find fault with his dilatory hostle when he arrived. That night the manager's son re mained until after the concert-an unusual thing for him-and, having stald so late, he invited Miss Bertha Joy, the beauty of the concert, to a seat in his buggy and a ride to the circus train. The next ng in the next town young Circle was waiting for her to appear on the platform, much to the sat isfaction of Father Circle, who was watching out of

"By jove," he exclaimed, "my scheme is working like a charm " Jacob Circle, circus and menagerie manager, was quite right, perfectly so.

That noon the old man sat under the marque of his tent doorway, and he remarked to Uncle Sam Timmons: "I guess we wont have any trouble

Uncle Sam knew perfectly well what he was driving at, and resp Remember what I told you about the next pretty

'Um "" was all he said. A few minutes later Bertha Joy came along, and was moving off to enter by the dressing room way when the manager called:

Come this way, Miss Joy, and keep out of the sun this hot day all you can.' This was something unusual, and a great con-descension on the part of Manager Circle. As a rule, he was opposed to performers coming in or going out by the front entrance. Old Jacob Circle was a judge of beauty, and he took cognizance of Bertha Joy's good looks and trim figure as she hurried past him with a: "Thank Chicago, April 18.—The weather Sunday was just what local managers thought it should be, but last night April rains renewed business at the old stand, and told a story of light houses at some of the outlying resorts. On the downtown stage matters struck a quick pace, the Monday night beginnings coming in for some corking big returns.... Annie Pixley filled the beautiful Schiller in every part, "Mass Blighte of Dulath" giving sati-faction on the occasion of its local introduction... A fashionable audience of corpulent proportions made its way to the Columbia, where Daniel Frohman's Co. give "Americans Abroad" for the first time in this city. "The Marriage Spectre" completed the list of last night's noveltees and came in for a bouncing big andlence at the Grand. BARNUM & BAILEY'S GREATEST Show on EARTH began the fifth and last week of its stay in town at Madison Square Garden on Monday, April 17. The performance now runs with almost perfect smoothness. Several changes have been made in the bill loss. Several changes have been made in the ontoward a final preparation for the road season, which commences at Brooklyn next week. The closings on Saturday night, 15, were the Milletts, Barber, Drawee, Nicholas Sebalas and Van Auken and Rice. The full grown black ourangoutang which was expected to arrive from Papua last week is still in transit, but is expected to be on hand when the show goes under canvas. The Silbon Family have become to be known as the "gem of the programme." Their double trapeze act may be classed as about the finest aerial work ever done under canvas or any other covering. The quartet are certainly "high flyers," and no member of the family ever leaves his or her perch and pass from one point to another without turning at least two somersaults. Their exhibition of skill, courage, grace and agility up among the Garden's rafters is, thilling to a degree. The equestrian part of the performance is fully up to the mark, and not a dulmoment is now found from the first blare of the courier's trumpet to the final kick in the Columbus spectacle. The Greatest on Earth goes forth this year better equipped and more resplendent than

VARIETY and MINSTRELSY

FRED MACKLEY, of Fred and Jennie Mackley, has entirely recovered his health, and is resting at his home at East New York. The estate of Joseph Gray, Mrs. Mackley's grandfather, must be settled by May I, when the Mackleys expect to be the possessors of about $20,000. The estate is said to be worth $100,000, and Mrs. Mackley seceives one fifth. Mr. Mackley will probably come out little higher up the professional ladder than an actor. He has a good scheme under way, which should afford both Mr. and Mrs. Mackley pleasant and profitable employment.

SALMI MORSE'S TEMPLE THEATRE

[CONCLUDED].

Marie Prescott opened Nov. 5 in "Belmont's Bride." Eaves & Ed. Stone were now the managers. In the cast were Charles Thornton and William Davidge Jr. After a struggle of one week, the house closed, and continued so up to Feb. 18, 1884, when "The Pirates of Penzance" was presented by the People's Opera Co. Anthony Relf was musical director. In the company were Hattle Starr, Joseph Hundel, Fred Dixon, F. Wolfe Marks and director. In the company were Hattle Starr, Joseph Hundel, Fred Dixon, F. Wolfe Marks and Miss Gonzales. The house closed in a few nights, On March 7 a partition sale of the property, which had been owned by Darling & Griswold, was made to Alfred B. Darling for $144,000, that sum including all the interior furnishings, etc. It never made any pretence to importance thereafter as a theatre. By and by it became the Twenty-third Street Tabernacle, and later still, when its congregation went elsewhere, it was used for the exhibition of Muncaksy's painting, "christ Before Pilate." The building was forn down in the Fall of 1888, and soon after the erection of a new theatre was comenced. The architect was H. Edwards Ficken, and the building is of the Flemish style of architecture. It is built on a piot of ground 75%, front by 187-5%, deep, running from this depth 25% from the 1871-5%, deep, running from this depth 25% wide, in centre 61%, to Twenty-fourth Street, making the entire depth 260%. On both sides of the house are two alleyways 8%, wide in the clear, running unobstructedly from the rear, and opening on to Twenty-third Street. There are six exits on each floor, 5% oin, in width, leading to these passages. Some idea of its soitiuty may be tormed when it is stated that the main walls are thirty-two inches, and in may places three and four feet in thick-tess. There is no cellar underneath the auditorium-floor, which is as soild as brick and iron can make it. This is covered with the floor, which is on a level with the sidewalk. The decorations of the boxes, laceony and galiery raits and proscenium frame are of old gold in colors, relieved with gill. The scating capacity is: Orchestra or lower floor, 562; the balcony, 40%, and the galiery over 500. There are asso twelve private boxes, six on each side of the stage. The orchestra is under the swell of the stage front. In depth from the footing this to the rear wall, it is 46%, and in width it is 75%. It is over 700, The ear are asso twelve private boxes, six on each

— John R. Hager, formerly The Clarers' correspondent at Indianapolis, Ind., wrote and successfully produced, in 1886, a musical comedy called "A Swell Affair." It has since been read by several managers and others, and Mr. Hager still has hopes that it will be among the winners next season. But he is disturbed, and not unwarrantably, to learn that a company has recently toured the East in another piece called "A Swell Affair." From such information as he has been able to gather, Mr. Hager judges that a copy of his play has found its way into unauthorized hands. It is certain, at any rate, that the title is his by virtue of prior use and copyright. He will take decisive steps to protect himself, so he informs us.

— On the evening of April s, a joyful event took place at St. Louis. Something like one hundred professionals congregated at Tony Faust's, to do honor to the Francis Wilson Opera Co., previous to their departure for Cincinnatl. A fine repast was partaken of, with all appropriate condunents, and a most delightful evening was passed. "The Old Homestead" Double Quartet were prominent among the entertainers, and sang "Old Lang Syne" with such pathos that tears were drawn from many an eye. The assemblage then formed in double file, and marched to the dept, where there was a multiplicity of hand shakings and sincere good byes.

— Newton Beers has secured "Jib-be-nai-no-say" from Joseph Proctor, which he intends to put on the road next season, in an elaborate fashion. The background of the drama will be filled in with real indians, real Africans, real pioneers and prairie schooners. The 'Jib-be-nai-no-say" will be realistic, replete with thrilling stage pictures, scenic surprises and marvelous mechanical effects. There will be Indians introducing war dances, scaip dances, gbost dances and other barbarous rites peculiar to the American savage; and American negroes, who will chant their peculiar plantation melodies. The assembly and drill of an awkward squad of Kentucky Coon Cap Rangers will be accompanied by the "um-ta-ra-ra" of an old time block house band, as a peculiarly novel and interesting feature. Among the many scenic surprises will be a veritable picture in detail, within and without, of an old colonial block house or frontier stockade, depicting the pioneer customs of Daniel Boone and his hardy foresters, under the first family roof tree in historic Kentucky's early days. The scenic and mechanical sensation will be the wild shoot for life of the Jib-be-nai-no-say, in a boat of fiame. Then comes a picture of Indian life among the wigwams of Wenonga, the Black Vulture of the Shawnees. Here will be introduced Indian rites and ceremonies, concluding with the dance of death by the savages around the Jib-be-nai-no-say, who is being burned at the stake. A preceding act shows the joyous and joily life of the negro in his quarters, where a day of labor is closed with merry glees and dances to the tinkling of the banjo. The last act will be a fitting climax.

— Frankle Broach, late of "A Breezy Time" Co., after being contined in Harper Hospital. Detroit. Mich., for two weeks with inflammatory rheumatism, was brought back to her home, this city in a helpless condition. Miss Broach's physician hopes to bring her out all right in a short time.

Last Week's Record .- Walker Whiteside's first engagement before the New York public started first engagement before the New York public statted under very encouraging auspices at the USION SQUARE THEATRE, where his first week was devoted to performances of "Hamlet" and Richelieu." His audiences were of good size throughout the week, and gave unmistakable signs that the young actor pleased them. Hamlet is by far Mr. Whiteside's best performance. In that role he displays good technical judgment, reads clearly and intelligently, and acts generally with fire and sincerity. To say that he agreeably surprised a and intelligently, and acts generally with the and sincerity. To say that he agreeably surprised a public which had, perhaps, awaited his cssay with doubtful forebodings, is to give an exact record of his achievement. Comic opera's reign at the AMIRING came to a brilliant close on Wednesday night, 12, when the Conreid-Firenczy Co. finished its long engagement. Night of 13, Bernhard Rank, the veteran and popu-har actor, received an ovation. The occasion was the celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of his career as a comedian on the German stage in America, and the play was L'Arronge's comedy, "Die Sorglosen." The piece was acted with spirit and vin, and with the assistance of Mathide Cotrelly, Engenie Schuntz and Otto Meyer. At the lend of the third act, Max Lube delivered a witty speech, on completing which he presented Herr Rank, in the name of his friends, with a set of silverware. Carl Grube, from the Court Theatre, Meiningen, made his American debut night of 18, at the Amberg, in "Die Sternschunge" e'The Shoot. at the Amberg, in "Die Sternschuppe" ("The Shooting Star"), a four act comedy by Herren Von Moser and Girndt. The piece is new to von Moser and Girndt. The piece is new to this city. The drainatic stock at the Amberg is to remain until May 6. The managers will then take a company, including some of the members of the present one, to Terrace Garden for the Summer. The Conreid-Firenezzy Co., meanwhile, sailed 13 for Germany, though unaccompanied by Mr. Conreid, who will not leave until the work. who will not leave until this week.....Continued bills 10-15 were these: "Lady Windermere's Fan" at Palmer's, "The Girl 1 Left Behind Me" at the Em-PIRE, "Cordelia's Aspirations" at HARRIGAN'S.

Salvini's second week in New York as a star, at the MANHATTAN OPERA HOUSE, was valuable to him as indicating in on uncertain degree his popularity with the public which gave him his first encouragement. His performances of "Don Casar de Bazan" were rewarded by lavish applause, and his andiences were of good size throughout the week. There was some trouble among the supernumeraries, who appear in "Don Casar de Bazan," night of 11. Juins Meyer became mutinous, and slashed the captain of the supernumeraries Geo. R. White with a penknife across the hand. Meyer was arrested and locked up in the Thirtieth Street station. On the following day he was held for felonious assault.

ON APRIL 13 the Sheriff sold all the personal property in the Metropolitan Opera House belonging to the Metropolitan Opera House belonging to the Metropolitan Opera House Co. under the execution issued by Earl Clinton Potts on a judgment obtained on Sept. 21 last, for $102,818. The property included the furniture, fixtures, music library, orchestra scores, stage properties, wardrobes, etc. It realized $17,875, and, it is said, was bought in for Mr. Potts' account.

The celebration of George F. De Vere's fiftieth anniversary on the stage occurs at the Star Theatre afternoon of April 18, when William H. Crane and his company appears for the last time in this city in "on Probation."

P. T. TURNER, business manager of Proctor's Theatre, who was arrested March 20 for failing to have nets placed beneath a trapeze performer, was discharged from custody at the Court of Special Sessions April 12. It was decided that he was not responsible for the neglect.

At a meeting of certain stockholders of the New York Concert Co., the corporation which owns the Casino, held on Feb. 4, a committee consisting of James B, Ciews, C. H. Blait, H. B. McDowell, E. C. Stanton and J. Louis Schaefer, was appointed to examine into the affairs of the company, and to take such action as it might deem necessary for the interests of the stockholders. A circular was made public April 12, which was sent by this committee to the stockholders, under date of April 7. The circular says that the committee has been unable to obtain from Rudolph and Albert Aronson, statements from the company's booss, to which every stockholder is entitled, and that it has therefore been hampered in its work. It gives the last official statement as furnished to the Secretary of Stafe, showing assets of $472,322,83, and inabilities of $441,454,54. The annual fixed charges of the company are placed at $45,250, and to this is added an estimate of $40,000 as the annual amount to retire itabilities, making a total of $85,250. In conclusion, the circular says: "In order to provide for the above, the Casino will have to earn something like $115,000 annually for the next nine and a half years, as under Mr. Aronson's contract he is entitled to 50 per cent, of the profits, after six per cent, dividends have been paid on the capital stock. How such a large sum of money can be saved each year, judging from the past, is a problem which your committee, at this juncture, is not called upon to answer; but that some energetic steps will have to be taken at once, if your property is to be saved from disaster, seems quite certain. With this report we hand you a proxy to be used at the next election. If you desire us to act for you, kindly sign and return it to the undersigned." The circular is signed by all the members of the committee except H. B. McDowell.

Thosk wishing to see one of the most amusing plays produced in this city during the present scason would do well to take advantage of the two weeks remaining before the close of Harrigan's Theatre, and witness "Cordelia's Aspirations." "Reilly and the 400" will be revived May I. Manager Hanley says that, owing to the pressure brought to bear from out of town managers, be bas decided to close the theatre May 13, after which date the company will go on the road for six or eightweeks.

An Diffortant theatrical transaction was reported April 18. It was the teasing of the Garden Incate by Hoyt A Thomas from A. M. Paimer, for eight years, to begin Sept. I, 1894. The Garden has been since its opening under the management of T. H. French. His lease will expire with this year, and he does not renew it, as he has the Broadway and the New American, which will open in about a month, on his hands, A. M. Palmer some time ago secured a lease of the Garden from Jan I, 1894, and this gives him the control, which he thus transfers to Hoyt & Thomas. They are present lease the Madison Square Theatre from him for the production of Mr. Hoyt's farce, "A Trip destrable in other respects. The report of the lease of the Garden was confirmed by Mr. Palmer and also by Frank McKee, manager for Hoyt & Thomas.

Manager H. C. Myner has purchased a site for a new theatre which he proposes to build for himself in about a year. The site is at the northeast corner of Madison Avenue and Twenty-sith Street, facing Madison Square. There are two parcels in the purchase. The first is a lot with 30ft. front on Madison Avenue, No. 27, and 100ft. on Twenty-fifth Street, oppon which there is now a five story brownstone and brick house. The other parcel is a lot adjoining this one on Twenty-fifth Street, 50ft, wide and leaft, deep. It has a stable on the rear of H. The properties belonged to the flenry Clapp estate. Mr. Miner's intention is to live in the house, and to use the stable for his own horses until he gets his plans ready for building. Then he will put up a theatre. Worth's Mt ext M.—This house has been through with more than its usual heavy patronage during the past few weeks, owing, probably, to the opening of the Spring and Summer season, for which Manager Worth has made extensive aiterations and limprovements, and a generous addition to the aiready large collection of museum features. The engagement of Baidwin, the human suction, pump, has been a bona fide success, and he is still on view here. Other attractions in the curlo halis are Burt Kimbail's art tableaux, J. W. Kerrigan, ventriloquist and magician, and belaries trained monkeys. Prof. Worth continues his interesting lectures. The stage people for this week are Dilks and Harris, Addie Smith, Chas. H. King, Joe Hardman and Armstrong and Porter.

Herek's Palack Misseum.—Three real heaithy ourage outangs have been added to the menagerie department at this resort, and they are estained as a leading feature is the curro rotunda. PEOPLE'S THEATRE.-John T. Kelly made his first Propile's Theatre, when "McFee of Dublin" was acted for the first lime in this city, and was most heartily welcomed by an audience that completely filled every seat and box. The people were unstinted in their applainse, while laughter frequently interrupted the performance. Encores were mimerous. From the rise of the curtain on the first act until the close of the third act, the fun never ceases. Business should be big at the People's this week, and there is fun and joility enough in the piece for a run of several weeks at any uptown house, where good farce comedy is the usual attraction. Unlike most farce coinedies, "McFee of Dublin" has a plot, which it does not take a microscope to see. The only drawback to the performance—and it cannot really be called drawback—is the second act. In the loby, of the sixting still, and many left ineir seats as soon as the cannot really be called their limbs and go a hereath of fresh air. In the loby, and end, and etc. a hereath of fresh air. In the loby, and end, and etc. a hereath of fresh air of the company, so far as acting, singing and dressing are concerned. It is unnecessary to mention each name, or to give each and every member separately the credit of his or her work; but, take the company individually and collectively, and it is an easy matter to say they gave one of the best performances of farce comedy the People's Theatre has ever seen, or that New Yorkers have witnessed in many years. John T. Kelly needs no introduction to the theatregoers of this city. He has the credit of being funny, and he justly deserves it. True, he is not a great singer, but that isn't necessary. His dialect, facial expressions, acting and the blum he makes at stuging are enough to convulse any audience. He assumed the character of Roger O'Mara, John T. At the Monthly Meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Actors' Fund April 13 the scheme of assessing the receivers of complimentary passes tencents each for the benefit of the fund was fully discussed. Managers Falmer and Knowles reported that they had tried the scheme in their theatres during the last five weeks with extremely satisfactory results. It was stated that Managers Miner and Greenwall were also trying it, but no reports were received from them. A committee consisting of Al Hayman, Daniel Frohman and Martin Hailey was appointed to report at the next meeting of the board some fensible plan for introducing the scheme generally throughout the country.

FIFTH AVENUE THEATRE.—Rose Coghlan began the final two weeks of her present city engagement on Monday night, April 17, with a change of bill, substituting "Masks and Faces" for "Diplomacy," which piece had then been played for live weeks with marked success. Miss Coghlan's assumption of the character of Peg Woffington will continue to the end of her present engagement, April 29, when Stuart Robson will open a five weeks' stay here. Miss Coghlan's well known perfection in the part of Peg Woffington needs no present words of praise. She enters into the full spirit of the character, and, with the most graceful abandon, interspersed at times with little touches of genuine pathos, gives a brilliant, finished and well rounded example of pure comedy work. Her support is excellent. Contrendy Thorpe as Sir Charles Pomander, John T. Sullivan as Earnest Vane, Frederick Robinson as Triplet, J. B. Polk as Colley Cibber, and Marie Burress as Mabel Vane render most capable aid to the star. Curtain calls were demanded at the end of each act, and the graceful minuet closing act two had to be repeated, as did Miss Coghlan's Irish reel in act three. The house was a large one. Following is the full cast: Sir Charles Pomander, Courney Thorpe; Mr. Ernest Vane, Jehn T. Sullivan; Triplet, Frederic Robinson; Colly Cibber, J. B. Polk; guin, Robert Fischer; Mr. Smarl, Charles J. Bell; Mrs. Soaper, Grant Stewart; Colander, Harry Courtaine; James Burdock, Cyril Young; Hundsdon, Edgar W. Norton; Call Boy, A. Cavalli; Pompey, Rufus W. Wilson; Thomas, Edwin James; Footman, E. W. Lester; Mabel Vane, Marie Burress; Kitty Cluye, Eleanor Lane; Mrs. Triplet, Romalind; Rose Coghlan.

H. R. JACOBS' THEATRE.—"Skipped by the Light of the Moon" is the offering this week. This is an old time farce comedy, but it has been brightened up to date, and is now in very acceptable shape. UNION Square Theatrie. — Walker Whiteside entered the second and final week of his successful engagement at this theatre on Monday Bight, April 17. A change of bili to "Richard Hi" had been originally contemplated for that evening, but the approval with which "Hamlet" met at last week's performances justified a continuance of that play for the present. A good sized house was in at tendance, and the indications are that the young tragedian will leave town with a really valuable endorsement for the road. In the press comments upon Mr. Whiteside's engagement, there has been a tendency to criticise the mounting of the plays produced. When Manager B. F. Keith came into possession of the Union Square he found the stage entirely destitute of secency. He immediately transferred from his other theatres as much secency, and as hearly appropriate in character, as was possible under the circumstances, and at very bornous of the Union Square with new secency and is nearly appropriate in character, as was possible under the circumstances, and at very bornous of the Union Square with new secency and secessories, so that in future the house will be fully equipped in those respects. ILLINOIS.

Chicago.—The week beginning April 17 marks an epoch in the annais of local stageland, as it sees the theatrical season of the Exposition period fairly inaugurated. Two of our annusement resorts bring forward their Summer offering, and at a majority of the remaining playhouses the immediate underlines embrace the attractions which will serve to entertain our guests. From this time hence the local field will be a scene of unprecedented activity, and before another six weeks have elapsed our amusement providers will be on record 'for weal or woe." Conservative managers figure out a season of something more than average prosperity, and have, with a single exception, entered the lists prepared to brave whatever fate may be their eventual nortion. Certain it is that the attractions provided will be of undoubted merit, the greater part of them comprising plays and people known the Nation over. Chiefrank must be conceiled Abbey, Schoeffel & Grau's presentation of Imre Kiralfy's historical spectacular "America." which first sees the light at the Auditorium 19, a date fixed after it was known the arrangements could not be completed in time for 17, the evening first announced. For several months past detailed preparations have been occupying the attention of the local management and its producers and when the curtain is dirst roug up a producting its advance heralding with a generous degree of allewance for managerial enthusiasm, the production seems likely to outstrip all predocessors in the local find. The ballet has been personally directed by Inne Kiralfy, assisted by Carlo Coppi and Victor Chiardo, and the musical portion of the production has been in charge of its composer. Angelo Venanzi. In the cast will be Louise Beaudet, Carlotta Gliman, Annas Russell, which the subject of the production has been in charge of its composer, Angelo Venanzi. OHIO.

Cincinnati.—The bottom will drop out of the season here in an abrupt manner. The Pike is already closed. Havilin's follows suit next week, and with the coming of May, Harris', the Peoples' and the Museum will be alone in the amusement field. There has been an unofficial summary of the season's business, and a showing of balances on the right side of the ledgers of most of the houses, but that is guess work pure and simple. Some of the attractions have found Clucinnati rolling in wealth, and desire to empty it in their coffers. Others have found the line between pro-perity and starvation pretty closely drawn. The closing sensation of the last week was the coupling of Heuck's with a deal to include it in the Harris, Britton & Dean circuit. There was nothing in it. DIAMOND FIELD GOSSIP.

Latest Sayings and Doings of the Base-ball Fraternity.

A clever young third baseman, Edward Daley, has been secured by Manager Chapman for his Buffalo team. Daley played in forty-three games last season with the Plainfield Club, and led the New Jersey League in fielding, while in batting he last spason with the Plainfield Club, and led the New Jersey League in fielding, while in batting he had an average of over .200. From Plainfield he went to Paterson, where he played with Jim McCormick's nine in over twenty games, including a victory over the New Yorks, in which Daley, at third base, accepted no fewer than fourteen chances—twelve assists and two put outs—without having an error. Playing against the Bostons, Daley accepted all of twelve chances. The Paterson team also defeated the St. Louis Browns, Daley doing so well in this game that Ed. Von der Ahe was anxious to take him to St. Louis, but the former declined to go. He also did fine work against the Baitimore and Washington teams, and surprised some of the old players by his cool and confident manner in which he converted seemingly safe hits luto outs. Daley, who lives in Brooklyn, is expected by Manager Chapman to at least equal his former find Jennings, in fielding as well as in batting.

The New York Club has signed Donohue, a young nitcher from Waterbury, Ct., who was highly received.

A dispatch from Atlanta, Ga., dated April 14, says: "The Chicago and Pittsburg Clubs added another chapter to Atlanta's sensational history last night, and the second chapter of the story will be written in the courts. When the Pittsburgs first expressed a desire to come to Atlanta they found that the grounds had been given to the Chicago team and that any further deal must be with Anson, the manager of the club. Buckenberger opened a correspondence with Anson and agreed to play a certain number of games with the Chicago Club on the Atlanta grounds. The Pittsburgs came when the day for their arrival rolled around and played five games. Then Thursday night Buckenberger quietly left the city, but not until Anson had protested against his going. Buckenberger, however, did not heed the protest, and, when Anson saw that his requests were not to be observed, he sought a lawyer and attempted to prevent the Pittsburgs from going, but by the time the papers were drawn Buckenberger was out of the city. Anson now declares that he will sue Buckenberger for a violation of the contract."

A Missouri Valley League is talked of this season, the membership being made up of six or eight clubs. The cities which are mentioned as those in which teams might be placed are Kansas City, St. Joseph, Springfield, Joplin, Carthage and Sedalia, Mo., and Atchison, Topeka, Lawrence, Leavenworth, Wichita and Parsons, Kas. As all of these towns are within two hundred miles of Kansas City, the jumps would be short, thus reducing traveling expenses, and the salary list of each team could be kept within $1,000 a month. A meeting will shortly be held at Kansas City. Favorable responses have been received from several places in the list.

Pitcher Carsey has signed for this season with the Philadelphia Club.

Pitcher Schellerman has been released by the cleveland Club, of the National League and American, and has returned to Buffalo. Boyd may also be served in the same manner, in order to save the Cleveland Club the money that would have to be paid the Buffalo Club. The action of some of the club so of the National League and American Association in refusing to obey the recent ruling in regard to players taken from the minor organizations cannot be too strongly condemned. These minor leagues—the Eastern and Southern—have paid for protection, and the National League and American Association should compel its clubs to immediately pay the amount settled upon for the players taken, or else release said players. The Buffalo Club, of the Eastern League, intends demanding at once from the Cleveland Club the money for Boyd's release or his immediate return to Buffalo.

It is not likely that the Louisville franchise in the National League and American Association will go to any other city, as in case the present owners of that club should desire to sell there are people in Louisville who stand ready to buy. Buffalo would be a more desirable city to fill any vacancy, claiming as it does to have a population of over 300,000 people, who take better to baseball than they ever did. Manager Chapman says, however, that the Buffalo Club will not do any bidding, but would willingly take the place of Louisville in the National League and American Association, played a series of exhibition games last week at Atiania, Ga. Jacob K. Virtue, whose picture is above given, is the clever first baseman of the Cleveland Club, of the National League and American Association. He was born March 2, 1865, at Philadelphia, and it was in the Quaker City, the home of so many of the most prominent players of the professional ranks, that he first acquired a knowledge of the national game. He began on the open iots, but was soon found in the ranks of the noted amateur clubs of his native city. It was while with the crack Somerset team, of Philadelphia, that his tine fielding at first base and hard hitting began to attract the attention of managers of minor league clubs, who generally seek the larger cities for promising amateurs to strengthen their teams. Virtue's fine all around work secured him his first professional engagement in 1886, as the first baseman of the Lancaster Club, of the Pennsylvania State League, with which team he begun that season, but finished it with the Altoona Club, of the same league. grounds on Sunday atternoon, April 16, the victim being James, alias "Cuckoo" Collins, the celebrated sprint runner, who was shot by P. J. Dolan, as alleged, immediately after being beaten by a anan named Green in a one hundred yards race. It appears that Dolan backed Collins for the svent, and previously to the contest told the latter that, as he knew that he could give Green ten finish first. The match was for $100 a side, and the race was witnessed by a number of sporting men from this city and Newark. Green's backer was William Davies, the proprietor of the Lod-Hotel, at Kearny. Dolan keeps a saloon at 94 Pacific Street, Newark, and is about forty years old.

Green easily defeated Collins, and both retired to the club house. Dolan, white with rage, ran after Collins, and, witnesses say, shot him in the back as he was accending the steps of the club house. After the shooting Dolan hurried to the stables of the Harrison and Newark cars, formed Detective Callahan, who found Dolan on a car and locked him up. Witnesses of the shooting say that Dolan accosted Collins and angily berated him for not beating Green. Dolan said to a reporter after his arrest that Collins came to his saloon by appointment in the morning. "I knew he was crooked." he said, "and I warned him nott ot hrow me down or I would shoot him. I had $120 bet on him, and I knew he could give Green then yards and beat him. Yes, I threatmed to kill him if he dumped me, but I didn't shoot him. The Manhattan Athletic Club Property, consisting of the elegant free proof club house at Madison Avenue and Forty fifth street and its contents, is to be sold at auction on Wednesday, April 26, at 3 o'clock, P.N. by order of the Supreme Court, under the direction of the word of the Supreme Court, under the direction of the supreme Court, under the direction of the word of the Supreme Court, under the direction of the word of the New York Real Estate Sales Room, 11 Breadway, and will doubtless attract a large attendance of capitalist-tor the building is one of the most substantial, elegant and finely located of any in the city, while it is admirably adapted for a club house, hotel, library or other public use. Tis a said ending to a club which for years has figured so prominently in the athletic world and filled so large a space in the social life of the metropolis, and preaches an eloquent sermon on the results of incompetency and unwise management. The sale will be confident additional particulars see advertisement in our business columns.

HARVARD AND UNIVERSITY OF PENNYLVANIA have arranged to play football on Thanksgiving Day of this year at Cambridge, Mass, and on the same holiday in 1891 at Philadelphia. This arrangement is the direct result of the recent introduction of the college department rule by Yale and Princeton, which was distasteful to Harvard and Quakers will rejoice over the agreement, which will obviate the necessity of journeying to the metropolis to witness a big football game on Thanksgiving.

GEORGE GOLDIK has accepted a tempting offer from Princeton College, and after the international competitions at the World's Fair he will sever his connection with the New York Athletic Club, and return to his old love. George is now well on the shady side of life, but is hale, vigorous and better than most of the younger athletes and gymnasts in all around work, while as a teacher he has for years stood alone. The Frinceton boys are to be congratulated on regaining his valuable services.

Gandaur, of Orillia, Ont., for the sculling championship of of Orlilla, Ont., for the sculing champoints of the world and $2,50 a side, is as good as made. The O'Leary Brothers, of Buffalo, N. Y., real estate agents and backers of Gaudaur, recently wrote a letter to Stansbury, who for some time has been in San Francisco, Cal., stating that they would match Gaudaur against the champion for a stake of $2,000 a side and the championship, to which Stansbury replied as follows:

San Francisco, April 2, 1833.

a side and the championship, to which stansoury replied as follows:

O'Leary Brothers, Buffalo, N. Y.—Gentlemen: I received your letter, in which you state that Gaudaur has $430 in your hands to bind a match with me for $2,000 a side. I wired you sceepting his offer, but I have since heard that he has challenged me for the champianship of the world, I to this I beg to inform you that I will not row for the championship of the world, unless the stake be $4,500 a side. But I am quite willing to row for $2,000 a me know which offer will suff him acrough to see articles of agreement drawn up and or, I remain yours, a remain yours, I hoping to hear from you along, I remain yours, To this the O'Leary Brothers made answer as follows:

To this the O'Leary Brothers made answer as follows:

JAMES STANSBURY, BUFFALO, N. Y.—Dear Sir: Your favor of April 2 is received, and in reply will say: If it is any accommodation to you to make the stakes $2.50 a side for the championship of the world, to row Mr. Gaudaur, we will readily accede to your request, and grant you that favor. But before going any further in the matter we would respectfully ask that you cover Mr. Gaudaur's deposit of $500, which we hold to bind the agreement. Then we will start to do business with you, and forward articles for signature at once.

On April 13 a reply was received reading as follow: "I have covered deposit with The Sam Francisco Chronicle. Forward articles were forwarded to Stansbury that evening, so that everything may be expected to be in shipshape before another issue of The Clipper, and the most important rowing match between professionals that has been made in America or England for a number of years will be launched on the sea of sport, adding another to the many interesting features of Columbus Exposition year in the United States.

A Letter from Dunraven.

The challenger for the America Cup, Lord Dun-raven, has written a letter in answer to that from the America Cup Committee, regarding the races for that trophy next Fall, the full text of which is herewith given:

DEAR SIR: I have the pleasure of acknowledging the receipt of your letter of the 9th instant. The conditions for saling the matches for the America's Cup are quite satisfactory, and the only suggestion I have to make is that perhaps six hours is rather a short time for completing a leeward and windward race. I may take this quishing the stake boats or marks by some large flag, which should not be an ensign or other flag likely to be flown by any tug or vessel watching the races. As regards dates, I should be very willing to curtail the time necessary in trying the yachts competing to defend the cup, or for preparing the selected vessel for the race, but I would point out that, if the first race is not sailed until Oct. S. It will be getting very late in the season for the voyage home by the time the Valkyrie can be fitted out for sea.

until Oct. 3, it will be gettling very late in the season for the voyage home by the time the Valkyrie can be fitted out for sea.

As you will have the whole Summer before you, I should be glad if your committee can see their way to fixing the date for the first race about the middle of September, or as soon after as convenient. I hope I may be able to get across in time to see some of your regatts and the trial races, which would be very interesting. Thanking you and your committee very much for your most kind offers of assistance, I remain yours, very faithfully.

The committee have forwarded the following in reply: reply:

Settles Russell. Settles Russell.

The sporting fraternity of this vicinity had an evening's sport April 17, on which occasion they saw two finish fights at Coney Island and were back to their respective homes as early as though they had merely been to the thearte. The fighting was fast and furious while it lasted, and, although both fights were quickly terminated, no one uttered even a murmur of not having had his money's worth. They would have liked to have it lasted, and, although both fights were quickly terminated, no one uttered even a murmur of not having had his money's worth. They would have liked to have seen a few more rounds, but they were well aware of the fact that such hurricane fighting could not hast long. There was a fairly good crowd present, including a very large delegation from Philadelphia. The preliminary on this occasion was to have been between Johnny Van Heest, of Chicago, and Jimmy Lynch, of this city, but the latter, who was a second in the fight at Kyracuse, where bonovan was killed by Dunfree, gotfoff on a "spree" over the said affair, neglected his training, got out of condition and had to abandon the light. The best the Coney Island Club could do under the circumstances was to secure Danny Russell, of Bridgeport, who bore quite a relies boys fought first, but Russell and a hard hitter. Yan Heest, as was clearly shown.

The second encounter, which was really the fight of the evening, it being twenty rounds or more, was actually of shorter duration than the first. The contest ants were Tom Williams, champion welterweight of Australia, and Billy Smith, of San Francisco, or possibly Boston, as he claims. This battle, though quickly terminated, was any body's fight almost from start to finish, and a lucky blow was liable to decide it in either man's favor at any stage of the game. Although Smith who had been got $500. Neither man was the least of which, the loser got $500. Neither man was the least of the conference of two build dogs. The first fight was commenced about twenty minutes to nine o'clock. The boys were to have scaled at 1228, but Russell was two pounds overweight. Van Heest and his manager, Eidle Thompson, waved this point rather than to have the contest declared off. The boys fought for a $1,000 purse, the loser to receive $200. Dan Russell's seconds were Fred Bullen and J. Rasgam, of Bridgeport, and Jimmy Carroll, of Brooklyn. Van Heest was looked attraby Billy Dacey and Danny McFride, of New York, and Dan Sullivan, of Brooklyn. Russell, however, was full of fight, and he undertook to set the pace, but he fell short on his lead only to receive a leit hander on the neck that sent him to the floor all in a heap. When Russell got up he again rushed at the Western boy and swung his right for the body, but again missed his mark and was sent spinning across the ring from a right hander delivered by Van Heest. The latter followed up his advantage, and, after Russell succeeded in ducking an ugly left hand swing, they clinched. The moment they broke Van Heest. Russell, on the other hand, was a trifle tired, and Van Heest was not slow about making him juore so, as he banged him about with right and left, that the poor Bridgeport lad was so groggy he could scarcely stand on his feet when the round ended.

3. Russell, although almost entirely at the mercy of Van Heest, fought gamely through this round. Hall Smashes Slavin.

Charley Mitchell gives the following version of the way in which the match between Jim Hall and Paddy Slavin was made: "On the night of Hall's return to England, Slavin and Hall met at a well known hostelry on the Surrey side of the water and had several drinks. They had been proved then was visic and become on the Surrey side of the water and had several drinks. They had had more than was wise, and became very talkative, endling by 'snacking' each other. Replying to a taunting remark from Hall, Slavin said he could lick Hall in three rounds, to which the last named replied that he could not do it in three years; thereupon Hall rushed at Slavin and struck him on the face. Slavin did not retailate, but remarked that he would get even did not retailate, but remarked that he would get even did not retailate, but remarked that he would get even "Afterwards both cooled down somewhat, and £6a side was posted with Mr. Calder to bind a match, and an appointment made to meet at The Sporting Lipt office the following day to sign articles to box in eight weeks. I called at the time and place appointed, but neither Slavin nor Hall put in an appearance, and the matter remained in abeyance. Now, however, as Messre. Williams and Peel have posted the money for the purse, and Slavin expresses himself as being anxious for the job, Hall will keep bis part of the contract, and will oblige Slavin with a stake of £1,00 a side on the result. This man will provide the other £200. Slavin, therefore, will be accommodated on the lines he himself has mapped out."

Hall vs. Slavin.

The cable informs us that the Hall and Paddy Slavin is to take place Derby week, but the date has not yet been definitely fixed. Charley Mitchell offered to back Hall against Slavin before the Bolingbroke Club for a $3,000 purse and a stake of $5,000 a side, while Slavin stated that he was prepared to post $2,500 to box at the National Club for a $5,000 purse and a side bet of $5,000 each. But it happens that, while Slavin's backers are affiliated with the National Club, those who are behind Hall are members of the Bolingbroke Club; consequently the principals and others interested turn to some other club for a suitable purse. Hall and Paddy Slavin is to take place Derby week.

Mike NeGarry came of Negarry.
When he got half tight he felt sparry.
When he got half tight he felt sparry.
When he got half tight he felt sparry.
Oh, he was such a divit to fight.
He'd fall out wid a soldier or sailor,
With a tailor or a nailer.
And he'd even tackle a jailer.
He was dying to slog ev'ry night.
Hut one day through the streets he went rowlin'.
Will nobody fight?' he was howlin'.
Till he met with a very cross gang.
And says he, "by the pow'rs I can bate ye!
I can slate ye, I can stay ye.
Stand there and I will massacrate ye.'
When one of the boy ohs went "bang"
So he put up his hands and he fought.
At danger he never would wine.
But they paralyzed NeGarry.
And IIL has had to carry
His whiskers in a sling ever since.
But they paralyzed NeGarry.
And IIL has had to carry
His whiskers in a sling ever since.
